WINGS to FLY

With banner unfurled, 410 Trinity students joined 230 million Americans in celebrating the birth of the United States Constitution on September 17, 1987. It was a landmark year for both the United States and our school. Trinity celebrated with a memorable assembly sponsored by the History Department, honoring the Constitution which provides the roots for our nation. Mrs. Wise, the keynote speaker, contrasted life in a totalitarian society with the privileges of a democracy. It was a day of spirit and celebration. Yet Trinity in this, its twentieth year, marked a new beginning, as well, with the appointment of Headmaster Jay St. John. Trinity gives roots to grow and wings to fly. Headmaster's Day, celebrated October 9, gave students the opportunity to show their spirit. The greased watermelon contest and the Junior-Senior rope pull both added to the excitement.

Judge Donald Dietrich, alumni parent, gives background to the Preamble of the Constitution. His presentation emphasized the purposes underlying the document.

Student Council members Darby Ballard and Tene Closson pledge allegiance to the U. S. flag on Constitution Day.

Shalom! Salaam! Peace! Religions from all over the world are represented at Trinity. Weekly Episcopalian chapel services, however, provide students with forty-five minutes for thought and prayer. In spite of the school's roots in the Judeo-Christian tradition, services stress our universally spiritual nature.

Friendship is also a very important part of life at Trinity. It helps alleviate much of the academic pressure. Students love to gather with their friends at break and lunch to talk and have fun. They consider these times to be the most memorable because friends help each other grow and develop the confidence they need for the future. Many years after leaving Trinity, students can still enjoy the friendships that flourished during their high school years. Thus, these ties are the legacies of Trinity.

Activity Now! Benefits Later!

From orientation to graduation, student energy was evident at sporting events, dramatic productions, musical programs, artistic displays, and academic contests in language proficiency. Fund-raising for charitable causes included donations to the Adam Walsh Foundation. Students spent time job-shadowing and meeting with college representatives to give direction to their plans for the future.

Coming and Going

It is 7:45 and Trinity students are trying desperately to get to homeroom on time. It never fails: the harder they try to be on time, the later they are. But with the new traffic light, life was easier, though the parking lot itself was a scene of rush hour traffic.

After school was different. While some went to MacDonald's or the yogurt store — or just socialized in the parking lot to unwind — many Trinity athletes were hard at work practicing for the next game or meet.

It seemed as if Trinity students were always coming or going.

Be My Friend!

Do not walk in front of me, for you are not sure I will follow,
Do not walk behind me, for you are not sure I will lead,
Just walk beside me and be my friend.

Friends make up a large part of the spirit of Trinity. New students and old found common ground in the bond of friendship. The students at school were eager and willing to help others with a problem or a difficult assignment. Friends weather the test of time; friendships made on the Trinity campus will be cherished forever.

Special Moments

Your friends will know you better in the first minute you meet
Than your acquaintances will know you in a thousand years.

Richard Bach

At our school, bonds of friendship united us though we came from diverse religious and national backgrounds Mutual respect and common interests meant more to us than differences. Sophomores Reba Rosenberg and Mirinda Yoo (at right) appreciate the value of friendship.

Well-Grounded Academically

At times we hated it, but we knew we needed it. Academic excellence. Scholastic programs continued to provide a rich background and exacting standards at all levels. Seventh graders received recognition for their participation in the Duke Talent Search. Special honors went to Wendy Shaffer, '91, for scoring in the top four out of over 26,000 participants.

effort as well as aptitude. The Advanced Placement program in the upper school was expanded to include courses in French literature, American history, physics, and art, adding depth to the already outstanding curriculum. AP students were the first to benefit from the new, closer association with Rollins College when Rollins granted them library privileges this fall.

Spirits Soar!

Go, Saints! Spirit meant cheering and pulling together — not just at sports events, but in all aspects of our lives at school. Mr. St. John set the tone early in the year by speaking of goal-setting, and the motto "Share the Spirit" caught on. The school community "shared the spirit" when it welcomed our AFS student, Knut Aas, to our midst. Traditions like the Monday morning "hero talk," the "Student of the Week," and the passing of the toucan hat to the most spirited student began. By October, the traffic light at Aloma Avenue — the light so many people helped finance — began to operate.

Students, faculty, parents, and friends were proud to share the spirit created this year.

Voluntary Contributions? Legalized Extortion!

A day anticipated by all, CASUAL DAY! It's simple. A student contributes one dollar to a club such as the Women's Service League or the Key Club and is, therefore, allowed to come to school dressed in casual clothes. There can be only one casual day a month, with the proceeds going to the club sponsoring the event. The money is used to finance club activities.

Students come dressed in their favorite fads and fashions. This year the trend seemed to be stone-washed jeans and denim jackets. Certainly not dress code, but fun!!

Casual days were always on Fridays, and it was a nice way to end the week. The question "When's the next casual day?" rang out often on campus. It was definitely one of the most eagerly awaited days of the month.

Faded blue sweatshirts are eternally popular. Brent Smith's has seen some wear.

The gazebo is a favorite place to enjoy the shade and visit with friends. Lisa Louttit, Angela Beck, and Stefanie Cohen wear the Florida uniform—bermuda shorts and T-shirts.

Sports Take Off

Sports thrived at Trinity. In order to boost school spirit even further, Mr. Jay St. John began a new tradition. The toucan hat was given from one student winner to the next. Each student had shown extraordinary spirit for his or her sport or activity. In addition to the hat, an intramural program was begun. The first intramural sports of the fall were soccer, tennis, and basketball, with plans to include swimming and other sports by spring. Nearly eighty percent of the student body participated.

Spirit Soars!

Spirit Week is an exciting annual event organized by the varsity cheerleaders. Students dressed in bizarre outfits according to the name of the day. This year's Spirit Week consisted of Surfer Day, Cowboys and Indians Day, University Day, Halloween Costume Day, and of course, Blue and Gold Day. Some members of the Trinity family showed exceptional creativity and spirit such as Mrs. Gainer as a surfer, Ivan Negron as a nun, Lexy DeVane as a lion, and Lisa Louttit as a strawberry. A good time was had by all at the powder puff football game in which the girls played and the guys cheered. All of the students and faculty pulled together at the pep rally to encourage the Saints to victory over Ocala St. John at the homecoming game.

A lucky roll of the dice turned out to be Hillary Jovi and Jennifer Johnson.

Eighth graders raise the cry of "Beat Ocala!"

Coach Spring does all he can from the sidelines.

Tongues of fire warmed the night, but the game spirit was hot already! The fire was lit Thursday night only after the volleyball team pounded out a victory over Master's Academy in our gym. Then the crowd gathered behind the library building to see the sparks fly.

Sparks flew early Friday night as well. The junior high game was a tight contest to the last seconds. The tie score at the end did not tell the story: Coach Spring and the team fought off St. John School as best they could. What an effort!

Homecoming 1987!

This homecoming our football teams kept their spectators in suspense. Until the final seconds of the JV game, we were winning, 14 — 8, but our hopes of a JV victory were shattered by a last minute tie, 14 — 14, with Ocala St. John Lutheran School. Varsity squeaked to a very close victory, 6 — 3, also over St. John.

Our spirit was built up the week before the game with a successful spirit week and bonfire. The Boosters Club sponsored a scrumptious tailgate barbeque dinner on game night. And, in addition to our traditional homecoming events, the UCF marching band and flag corps entertained between the two games. Tension mounted during the varsity halftime as spectators watched various cars, dating from the 1950's to the 1980's, circle the field bearing our homecoming court. The crowd cheered as Jennifer Fritz and Barry Margeson were crowned King and Queen.

Varsity Head Coach Dan Burke issues a directive.

There's No Place Like Home

Excitement built as each couple readied for an eventful, fun-filled evening. Dinner was expected to be wonderful before going off to a spectacular dance.

The theme was Party Gras and featured the band Alter Ego who played everyone's favorite hit songs from the '60's, '70's, and '80's. Colored lights mounted on tall poles flashed in rhythm with the exuberant dancers. No one seemed to care that the dance took place on Halloween night.

As the evening came to a close, everyone agreed it was the most successful Trinity dance in memory.

Despite his injury from the game the previous night, Shannon Hutto rocked to Alter Ego's beat.

Sophomores T. Garlati, D. Ballard, M. Devane, D. Ballard, and K. Brodrick posed for Mindy's omnipresent camera.

Bon Voyage!

Foreign study programs add a distinctive international flavor. This year's American Field Service student, Knut Aas, from Skien, Norway, was hosted by the Clayman family. From the first day of school, Knut was made to feel welcome in the busy world of extracurricular activities. This effort, along with Knut's open personality, quickly made him a favorite on campus.

The complete exchange experience also involves traveling to other countries. Last year Natasha Nazereth spent a full year in Hamburg, West Germany, as the recipient of the Congress-Bundestag Scholarship. She attended a German high school and took a full course load, all in German. Alison Clark attended school in Waterloo, Belgium. As an AFS summer student Lorena Guarda spent two months in Resistencia, Argentina, where she lived with a host family and went to the local school.

France was also a popular destination last summer. Barry Margeson went to the small town of Lorne Sûr Rhône with AFS. Meanwhile, Ted Newman was in Arles on a program sponsored by Dartmouth College. Helen Rice attended the University of Coen in Normandy with the International Studies Association.

On the other side of the world, Laura Hong took a trip sponsored by the Korean Embassy. Its aim was to educate young Korean-Americans about their families' native land. Mr. Fulmer escorted a group of twelve students to five major cities in the Peoples' Republic of China. The group attended the theatre and spent a day discussing international relations with Chinese students in Zi'an.

During the course of the school year, Donna Prague and Amanda Jacobson participated in a program which took them to a high school in Hadesim, Israel. They studied sociology, Israeli history, archaeology, and cartography as part of an exchange arranged directly between our headmaster and the Israeli school.

The exchange experience enriches far beyond the surface accomplishments such as proficiency in a foreign language. Trinity students have made the effort to expand their horizons.

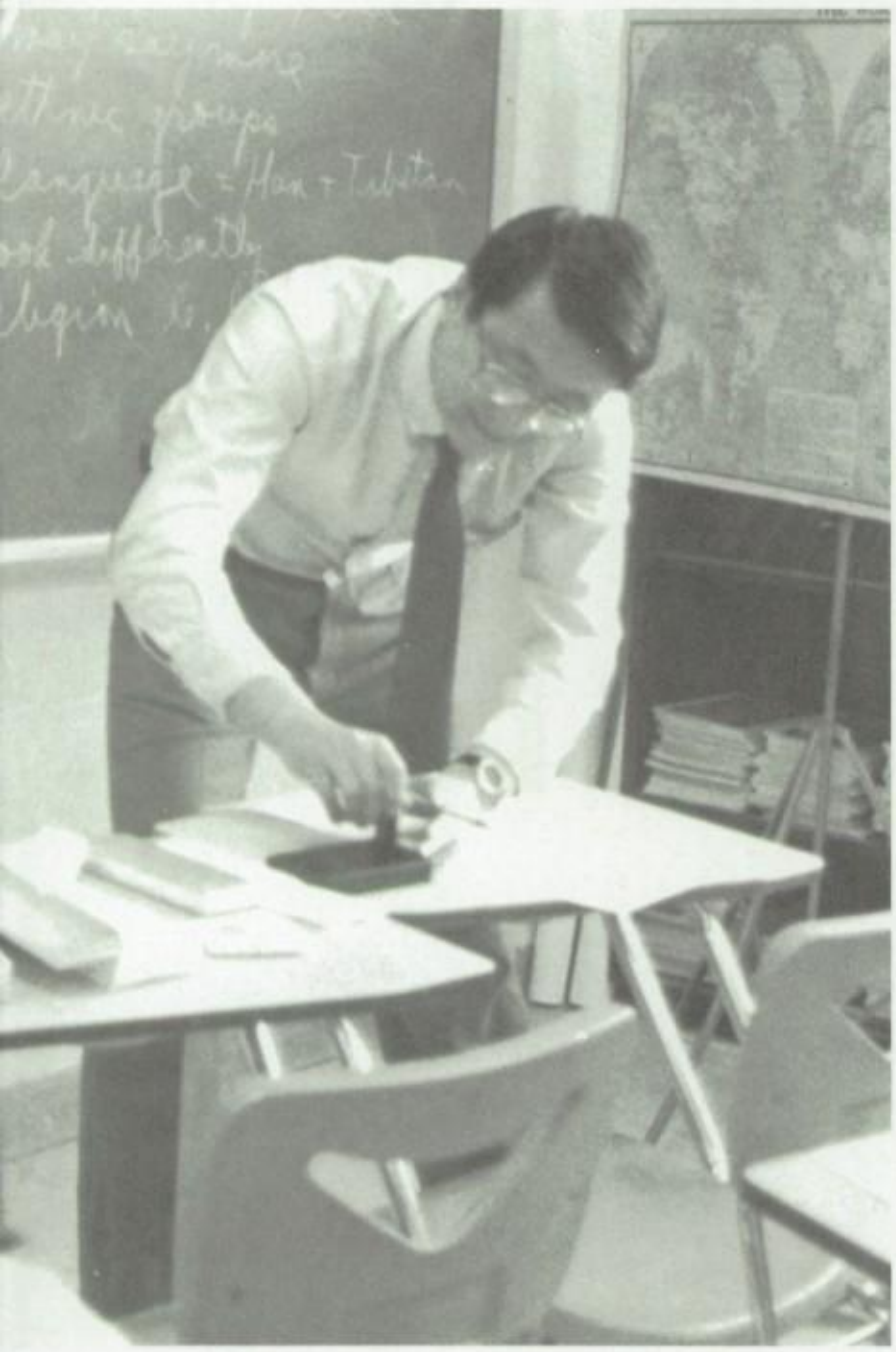
Mr. and Mrs. Fulmer accompanied students Scott Traynor, Pam Himes, Jeff Sweet, Lori Metz, Michael Tuazon, Tanya Plotnikoff, Brandon Silkey, Chris Granville, Jennifer Fritz, and Julie Akerman to China in the summer of 1987.



Representatives to the North American Invitational Model United Nations in Washington (NAIMUN) included Samir Chaudhari, Jeff Sweet, Jennifer Fritz, Leigh Sigman, Kevin Keene, Corey Stewart, Barry Margeson, Amanda Jacobson, Chris Adrian, Julie Schuler, and Sidhu Nadkarni.

Mr. Chen teaches Chinese characters to sixth graders during a unit on the Orient. Sponsored by the American Field Service, Mr. Chen spent five months at Trinity as one of three mainland China teachers visiting Central Florida. He taught NAIMUN delegates and accompanied them to Washington, D.C., in February. All grade levels benefitted, however, from having Mr. Chen on campus. From reminiscences about his childhood during the Cultural Revolution to his current perspective on Deng Xiaoping's economic reforms, Mr. Chen has served as an excellent ambassador from China.

Lead voices from the Orlando Opera Company filled the gym with the glorious music of Bizet's Carmen.

"He's So Fine," crooned Tigression Shannon McGhee to an obviously pleased Travis Van Dyke.

FINE ARTS

The fine arts program is designed to sensitize Trinity students to the arts. Mr. Vierling, chairman of the department, is proud of the renaissance of interest in music, art, and drama that has taken place in the last two years.

In an assembly in the autumn, the department sponsored the Orlando Opera Company, whose members entertained with selections from their production of Carmen. The Princeton University singing group The Tigressions took over the gym one winter day, performing everything from madrigals to '50's rock and roll numbers.

Arts Day, begun in 1986, has become an annual event. Arts Day features displays and judging of the best art projects by middle and upper school students, a photography contest, and a feature performance. The first year, Southern Ballet Theatre presented an engaging lecture-demonstration. Last year, the dynamic U.C.F. Jazz Ensemble rounded out the day. Arts Day '88 showcased a sample from the spring drama production and a special performance by resident pianist Baylor Woodward.

Mrs. Evans, middle school art instructor, assists Lisa Zimmerman with her project. Above, accomplished pianist Mrs. Speicher accompanied the Toyland production. Both Mrs. Speicher and Mr. Arnold sing with the Orlando Opera Company chorus.

Soprano Elizabeth Roxby leads The Princeton Tigressions in "Let It Be Me."

In Our Town, Mr. Vierling played the stage manager, Julie Villalobos was production manager, Sasha Bogdanowitsch played George, Leigh Sigman was Emily, Reba Rosenberg played Mrs. Webb, David Steinway was Mr. Webb, Doug McDowell played Dr. Gibbs, and Tally Garlati was Mrs. Gibbs.

Winners of superior ratings at district competiton: Doug McDowell, Darby Ballard, Julie Villalobos, Reba Rosenberg, and Sasha Bogdanowitsch.

A complete metamorphosis for Erin Uricchio and Heather Turner!

DRAMA

With the support of the fine arts department and the middle school, Mrs. Bonnie Henson staged the holiday season musical Toyland in December. The cast of sixty included leads Hillary Jovi, Ryan Lefkowitz, Mike Ciaccio, Brian Repple, Jennifer Johnson, and Mike Engleberg, with singers, dancers, and acrobats from the middle school and from the new upper school Music Troupe.

Drama students from the upper school performed three one-act plays in the fall term. The students wrote their own play for the spring production. In the winter term, students prepared for district competition. Several earned the privilege of performing at the state drama festival at Gainesville in April.

The Little Theatre group rehearsed during Wednesday activities time, allowing both drama and non-drama students of all grades to participate. The group produced a most successful Our Town, the classic Thornton Wilder play, in February.

Mrs. Henson rehearses with Allison Wolford, Ouida Arnall, and Brande Schwartz so that Toyland will be perfect. Drama students presented a chapel sermon describing the major religions of the world. Above, Mr. Vierling encourages Reba Rosenberg, Jennifer Brooks, Julie Villalobos, Bill Trickel and Sasha Bogdanowitsch before the service.

SPECIAL EVENTS

Variety, hard work, and fun characterized the multitude of unique special events on campus. Canon Hay, for example, pruned shrubs near the lake during the Work, Eat, and Play Day held during the first term. The mood changed into Oriental themes as Al-Husein Madhany, Justin Uhleman, and Mr. Steinhorn used chopsticks during the sixth grade Chinese banquet in February. Michelle Monroe learned to write a few Chinese characters with a bamboo brush. NAIMUN students went to the Embassy of the Peoples' Republic of China in Washington, D.C., with visiting professor Mr. Chen. The participants included Jeff Sweet, Barry Margeson, Samir Chaudhari, Kevin Keene, Sidhu Nadkarni, Kesley Gallagher, Mr. Chen Dong, Leigh Sigman, Julie Schuler, Jennifer Fritz, and Pam Himes.

WINGS to FLY

The versatile faculty member to whom this book is dedicated began his career at Trinity in 1974 teaching mathematics. He eventually served as Department Head and still teaches AP Calculus. He also coached varsity baseball and varsity football before becoming Director of Athletics for a number of years. Two years ago, he was appointed Director of College Placement, and as juniors and seniors began the college admissions process, this man became an even more important figure in their lives. While busy preparing transcripts, coaching for interviews, and writing recommendations, he still had time for ALL students and had a positive effect on their lives. For all of his time, effort, and care, the 1988 Chi Rho is dedicated to Mr. Bruce Waldman with much love and appreciation.

The triumph of college acceptance was not only a result of Mr. Waldman's efforts but was also directly related to hours of work by all faculty members. Individuals spent time in preparing for classes, correcting tests, and encouraging the students at each level of their development. Student achievement became cause for faculty pride as college goals were met and future goals were made.

ROOTS to GROW
WINGS to FLY

After three years of high school—and up to six years at TPS—the senior year was by far the best. It was a happy time, a time of privileges: seniors drove to school, relaxed in a well-equipped lounge, went out to lunch whenever the mood struck. Senior athletes basked in the glow of special recognition at the end of each sports season. It was also a time to worry—about passing economics, about perfecting outlines and papers for English, about whether or not the admissions office of that special college would be receptive.

Trinity provided a solid grounding in academics for its graduates. Seniors knew that for sure, because alumni returned from college at homecoming and vacation times to tell everyone how thankful they were for all the useful preparation they received.

So amidst the triumph of graduation, the senior class members recognized that though their roots were nurtured at this place, they earned their wings here, as well.

ROOTS to GROW
WINGS to FLY

Football games, soccer tournaments, cross-country and swim meets, dances, and activities combined to make the lives of underclassmen hectic yet satisfying. Middle school students participated in field trips to the symphony rehearsal, Blue Springs, and the Maitland Audubon Society. They also played tennis, golf, baseball, and softball. Students did a little homework as well . . . as little as possible! Freshmen sponsored a Christmas dance for the middle school, and the sophomore class pioneered the establishment of an honor court in the upper school and maintained its continuity. The junior class devoted itself to fund raising for the prom. Selling candy canes and T-shirts was financially successful and fun.

Outside of school, Trinity underclassmen participated in all aspects of community and family life. We celebrated bar mitzvahs, bat mitzvahs, and confirmations while taking a wide variety of lessons to develop the best in ourselves. The acquisition of a driving permit and eventually the coveted driver's license was a day of exultation for all sixteen year olds. Planning for college preoccupied many underclassmen, but the confidence instilled by a solid background made us optimistic about our futures and ourselves.

ROOTS to GROW
WINGS to FLY

Club activities provided enrichment and rounded out our school lives culturally, academically, and athletically.

The Little Theatre Project allowed students not enrolled in drama to join students who were enrolled in drama in presenting a full-length stage production. During the 1986-1987 school year, the Little Theatre Project presented "Twelve Angry Jurors," calling for a cast of thirteen actors. This year, students presented "Our Town," involving a cast of seventeen actors and a technical crew of eight. Plans are already being made for the 1988-1989 production of "Playboy of the Western World."

Even though German is not taught at Trinity, the new German Club was founded to stimulate interest in German culture and language. The club attended German movies and ate at German restaurants. Two members prepared to take the AP examination in May.

Varsity Club consisted of all members of varsity teams. The parents' Booster organization worked with the Varsity group to encourage school sports and spirit.

You name it, Trinity's got it. Read on.

PING PONG

When they were not chasing little white balls, the members of the new Ping Pong Club expended energy raising money to pay for tables and equipment. The often cutthroat matches took place in the Dickinson Activity Center.

JR. CLASSICAL

Latin Club members belonged to the national organization, The Junior Classical League. They attended the district, state, and national Latin Forum competitions and usually brought back the highest of honors. Just before Christmas members co-sponsored a drive for needy families.

DEBATE

The extracurricular speech and debate team traveled all over the state to compete in Lincoln-Douglas debate, oral interpretation of literature, extemporaneous speaking, and Student Congress.

WOMEN'S SERVICE

Women's Service League was both a social and a service organization. The nearly sixty members plus the fourteen Big Brothers elected early in the fall were responsible for putting together the homecoming and the Sadie Hawkins dances as well as doing service projects. In 1987, the group donated $1000 toward the installation of the traffic light outside the entrance to the campus.

ACOLYTES

Chosen from among the student body by the chaplain, the acolytes are highly visible volunteers and leaders. They assist in setting up for chapel and aid the clergy at weekly worship services.

COMPUTER

The Computer Club members played games during activities periods, then got chances to exhibit their skills in game tournaments from time to time. Mr. Baker informally advised and instructed the group during the weekly sessions.

YEARBOOK

The yearbook staff worked against Herculean odds to meet monthly deadlines, but the final product was a source of satisfaction to all. Sponsors Mrs. Somarriba and Mrs. Vierling persuaded, cajoled, and nagged while editors Lauren Greenbaum and Jay Mellon supervised copy writing, photo cropping, and layout design. Middle and upper school staff members took pictures, organized division pages, and sold ads. It was hard work, but hopefully the "Chi Rho" faithfully recorded the school year.

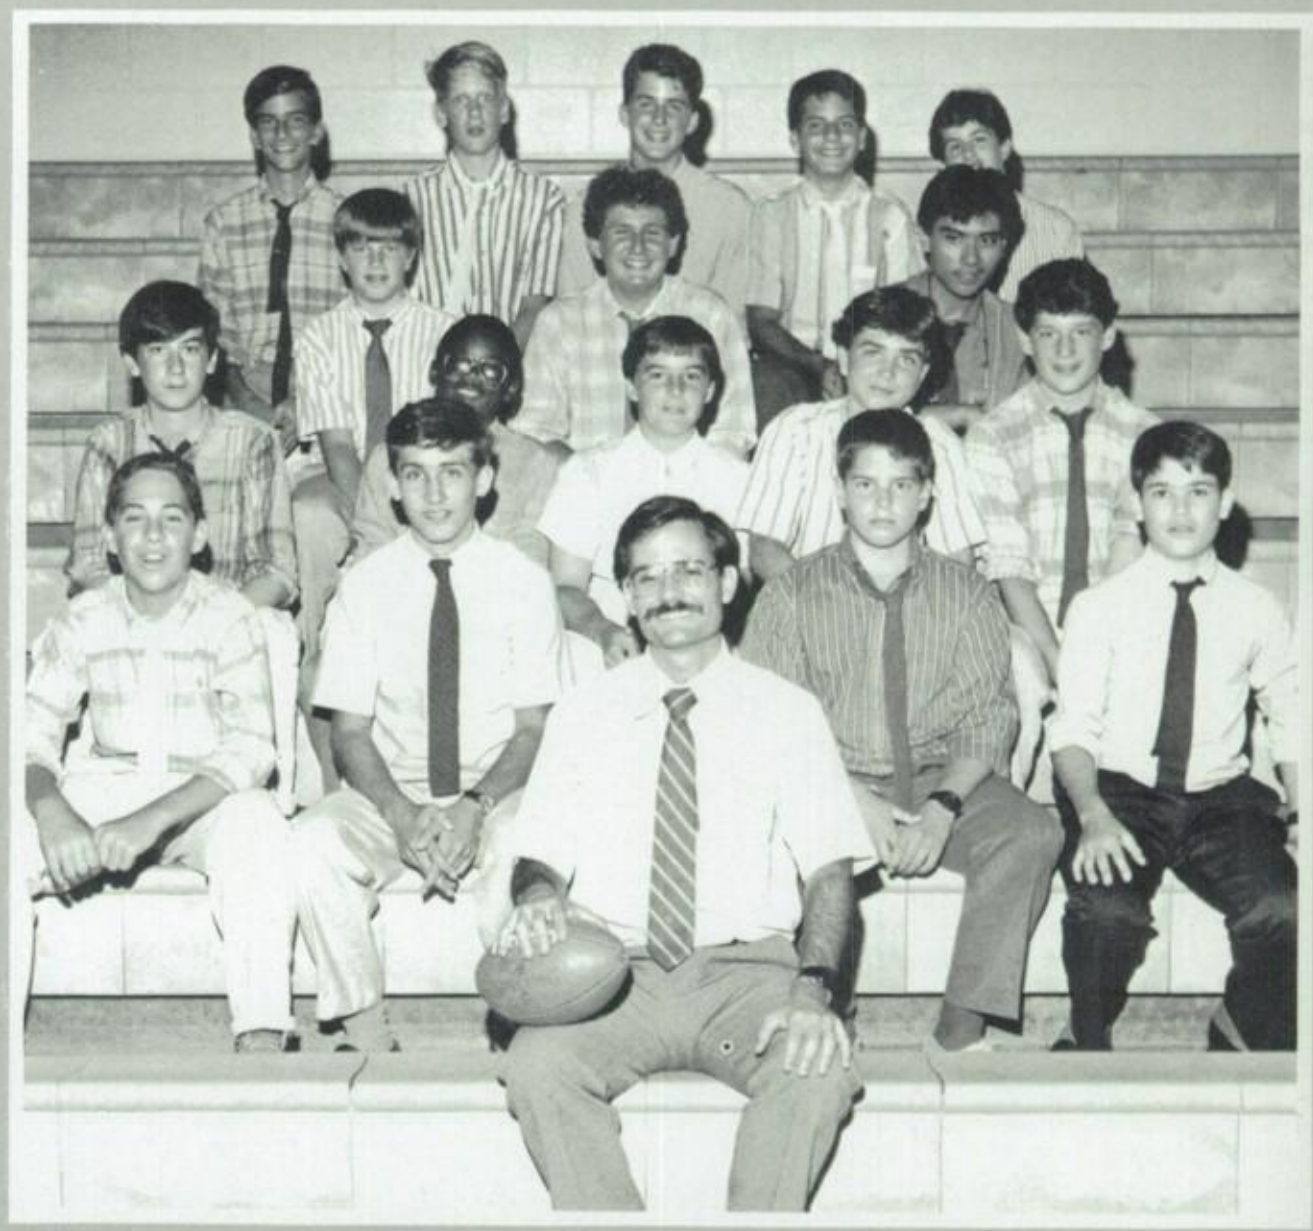
Some middle school students continued their creative involvement by joining Art Club. During activities period these students painted pictures, sculpted, and helped with sets for musical productions such as "Toyland" in December. Field trips to visit artists' studios and galleries were planned for spring term.

R. Rosenberg, R. Mazer, C. Borden, R. Thiemann, T. Garlati. Back Row: Mrs. Vierling, J. Maxson, Co-Editor L. Greenbaum, R. Moore, Co-Editor J. Mellon, S. Fender, C. Cubarrubia, T. Sarrazin, M. Nadhiri, Mrs. Somarriba. Not pictured: A. Alidina, N. Nazareth, P. Picquet, P. Toochinda.

SPORTS

The Sports Club was designed to promote sportsmanship, cooperation, and fun. Team activity was emphasized through sports such as soccer, football, and basketball. Mr. Steinhorn and Mr. Tauscher sponsored the club.

Front Row: Mr. Steinhorn. Second Row: J. Kleiman, J. Blanton, D. Smith, M. Ciaccio. Third Row: W. Drake, S. Conn, K. Simpson, S. Semones, B. Monroe. Fourth Row: C. Forness, R. Lefkowitz, S. Fernandez. Back Row: S. Granade, R. Ragnitt, B. Handy, R. Somarriba, J. Albertson.



T.A.R.

The Teenage Republicans are affiliated with and chartered by the Orlando area Young Republicans. The club worked with area party leaders in supporting national, state, and local Republican candidates in the 1988 elections.

SPANISH HONORARY

The Sociedad Honoraria Hispanica is sponsored by the American Association of Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese and was formally organized in 1953 as the Spanish National Honor Society. The organization's purpose is to recognize high achievement in Spanish by students of secondary schools and to promote a continuity of interest in Hispanic studies.

SPANISH

Spanish Club members were students who were currently enrolled in a Spanish class. Activities included writing to pen pals outside the country, having a piñata to introduce the sixth graders to Mexican culture, attending the 1987 Hispanic Festival, and organizing a Christmas party to set the Spanish mood. The club's main service project was bringing toys and sweatshirts to a migrant day care center at Christmastime.

Front Row: Mrs. Turner, P. Toochinda, A. Nocero, J. Johnson, A. Rosenfelt, M. Byers. Back Row: J. Mead, T. Emery, J. Cabascango, P. Himes, M. Tuazon, N. Nazareth, A. Kwun, Mrs. Ojeda.

CUM LAUDE

The Cum Laude Society was founded in 1906 and modeled on Phi Beta Kappa, the prestigious college honorary fraternity. Very few schools are allowed to have chapters; Trinity received its charter in 1971. Only a small number of juniors and seniors are outstanding enough to be named to this elite group.

M.S.L.

Men's Service League is a service organization of junior and senior boys. M.S.L. sought to help the community through such projects as the Thanksgiving canned food drive and the building of the homecoming bonfire. The group assisted the Women's Service League in a number of ways, including helping with decorations at the homecoming and Sadie Hawkins dances.

Front Row: P. Himes, P. Toochinda, L. Greenbaum. Back Row: Mr. Fulmer, Dr. McClure, Fr. Brokaw, G. Griffin, J. Mead.

Third Row: C. Cubarrubia, A. Manoni, B. Smith, B. Sharp, C. Adrian, K. Aas, K. Kelly, K. Danhof. Back Row: R. Machado, B. Margeson, T. Berg, B. Woodward.

he Trinity Players are all members of the chool's drama program. They take class ogether and present plays during the chool year as a repertory company. In adition, the Players take part in district cometition and the state drama festival. The layers also earn membership in the Interational Thespian Society.

QUIZ BOWL

The Quiz Bowl team's season ran from January through May. The team competed against eleven Orange and Osceola County high schools, answering academic and trivial questions. Five team members at a time played in this fast-paced competition.

BRIDGE

"When we can get a game, we play, all right," reported sophomore Matt Koltnow, who was instrumental in gathering bridge-lovers week-by-week wherever he could find them. Sponsor Mr. Arnold joined in to make a fourth the day the photographer showed up.

Front Row: R. Rosenberg, J. Villalobos, J. Brooks, D. Ballard, D. Prague. Back Row:: D. McDowell, B. Trickel, J. Holler, H. Rice, S. Bogdanowitsch, Mr. Vierling.

Mr. Johnson, C. Drake, P. Toochinda, R. Chowdhury, A. Eliscu.

Mr. Arnold, M. Koltnow, B. Maloney, K. Ramyar.

MUSIC

The new Music Troupe was comprised of upper and middle school students interested in special choreographed show presentations. Troupe activities included participation in the holiday show in December, a Fifties showcase in the winter term, and a Broadway show review in the spring.

KEY CLUB

The Key Club was one of the major service clubs on campus and was affiliated with the Kiwanis civic club. Throughout the year the club helped out with community-sponsored projects such as the Pet Fair, the Blood Bank, the Plant Sale for the Arts, and the building of the Turkey Lake Recreational Park for the handicapped. The special project this year was the Adam Walsh Child Resource Center for Missing Children. The Key Club also helped school-sponsored projects and events such as the work-play-clean-up day and sports meets. The more fun-oriented activities were dances, car washes, and conventions.

WEIGHTLIFTERS

The Weight Club provided an opportunity for students to learn the correct methods involved in building muscle. Students could use a variety of weight equipment to suit their needs.

FRENCH

French Club consisted of those members of the French classes who were particularly interested in French food and culture. During the year there were special "Foods Days" when members tried their hands at the culinary art. At other times members went out to lunch at a local French restaurant. Whenever there was a French film available or a cultural event in town, members tried to attend. The club also collected toys for the migrant workers and donated a French game and filmstrip to the school.

AEROBICS

"First we stretch out, then we jump and bounce around." That is the way Jennifer Fritz described the weekly activities of the Aerobics Club she began last fall with fellow senior Liz Acree. The Weather Girls provided the liveliest kind of popular music that accompanied all that exercise on Wednesday afternoons.

NATL HONOR

Upper school students who have demonstrated exceptional qualities of leadership, scholarship, character, and service are eligible for the prestigious National Honor Society. The used book sale in the fall was a National Honor Society responsibility.

'The Trinity Journal,'' our upper school newspaper, as set up to communicate information about campus events nd organizations. What is the sophomore class doing this ear? What community affairs has Trinity participated in? How id the track season go? Those were the kinds of questions ne ''Journal'' attempted to answer. On the lighter side, short tories, poems, and puzzles were included in the publication.

MU ALPHA THETA

Our Mu Alpha Theta chapter is affiliated with a national organization formed to recognize outstanding mathematics students and to promote math scholarship. Members attended various competitions and helped out with math tutoring throughout the year. To be a member of Mu Alpha Theta, a student must have a cumulative math grade of 90.0 in an advanced mathematics course.

CHESS

"Checkmate!" Strategy was serious business during meetings of the middle schoo chess club. Members played intramural tournaments, and winners challenged Mr. Steinhorn to duels. Who's the next opponent? Bobby Fisher, of course!

BUILDERS

As the club motto, "We Build," indicates, the Builders Club was for middle school aged young men and women who wanted to take positive, constructive action to build a better world for themselves and others. The specific objectives of the club were to provide opportunities for working together in service, to develop leadership potential, and to encourage loyalty to school and community.

FLAG CORPS

lag Corps was the spirit-boosting, flag-aving group responsible for homecoming alftime entertainment and for representing ur school at the Winter Park Parade.

ARBELOS

Arbelos Club members were math freaks who loved to tackle the most challenging puzzles numbers could present.

T. STAR

The goal of the "Trinity Star" staff was to produce a newspaper each month dealing with the news and concerns of the middle school. All writing, layout, and production were done by staffers. News articles, puzzles, features, editorials, and cartoons were submitted each month by all interested contributors.

ROOTS to GROW
WINGS to FLY

Sports generated excitement throughout the year, summer included. The program is an unending cycle with vitality and dedication in every new season. The fall spotlight is on homecoming and the football team, but cross-country, swimming, and volleyball do not retreat to the background, especially for all the students and coaches who spend many hours at practice and games. The action continues in winter: even when cold winds blow, the soccer teams occupy all the available fields on campus. In the gym, basketball players sharpen their skills for their many games. Spirit never fades, and the cheerleaders inspire confidence in the school's success.

During the busy spring season, track, baseball, softball, tennis, golf, and spring football and swimming activate stored-up energy. Academics remain strong, but who can resist the fresh air and exercise of a good outdoor workout?

As the school year draws to a close, sports continue to be an integral part of Trinity life. Athletes need to stay in shape. Several teams attend sports camps, and by August the campus is already alive with competitors raring to go.

VARSITY

The Saints increased their running attack to compliment the passing game in the 1987 season. Sophomore quarterback Jeff Murphy and the offensive line deserve credit for opening paths so that Ron Veres could rack up yardage. Ron earned first team all-conference and all-state honors in Division 1A, among other awards. Seniors Prescott Burke, Doug Cummings, and Shannon Hutto and junior David Fuller were also named to the first team all-Central Florida Athletic Conference.

Though the game ended in a heart-breaking loss, the contest against Jacksonville Episcopal was close throughout the first half, a triumph in itself because the Saints were rated underdogs going in. Victories over Oak Hall, Melbourne Central Catholic, Admiral Farragut, and St. John's gave blue and gold fans much to cheer about.

On the road to victory, the Saints kick off to St. John's.

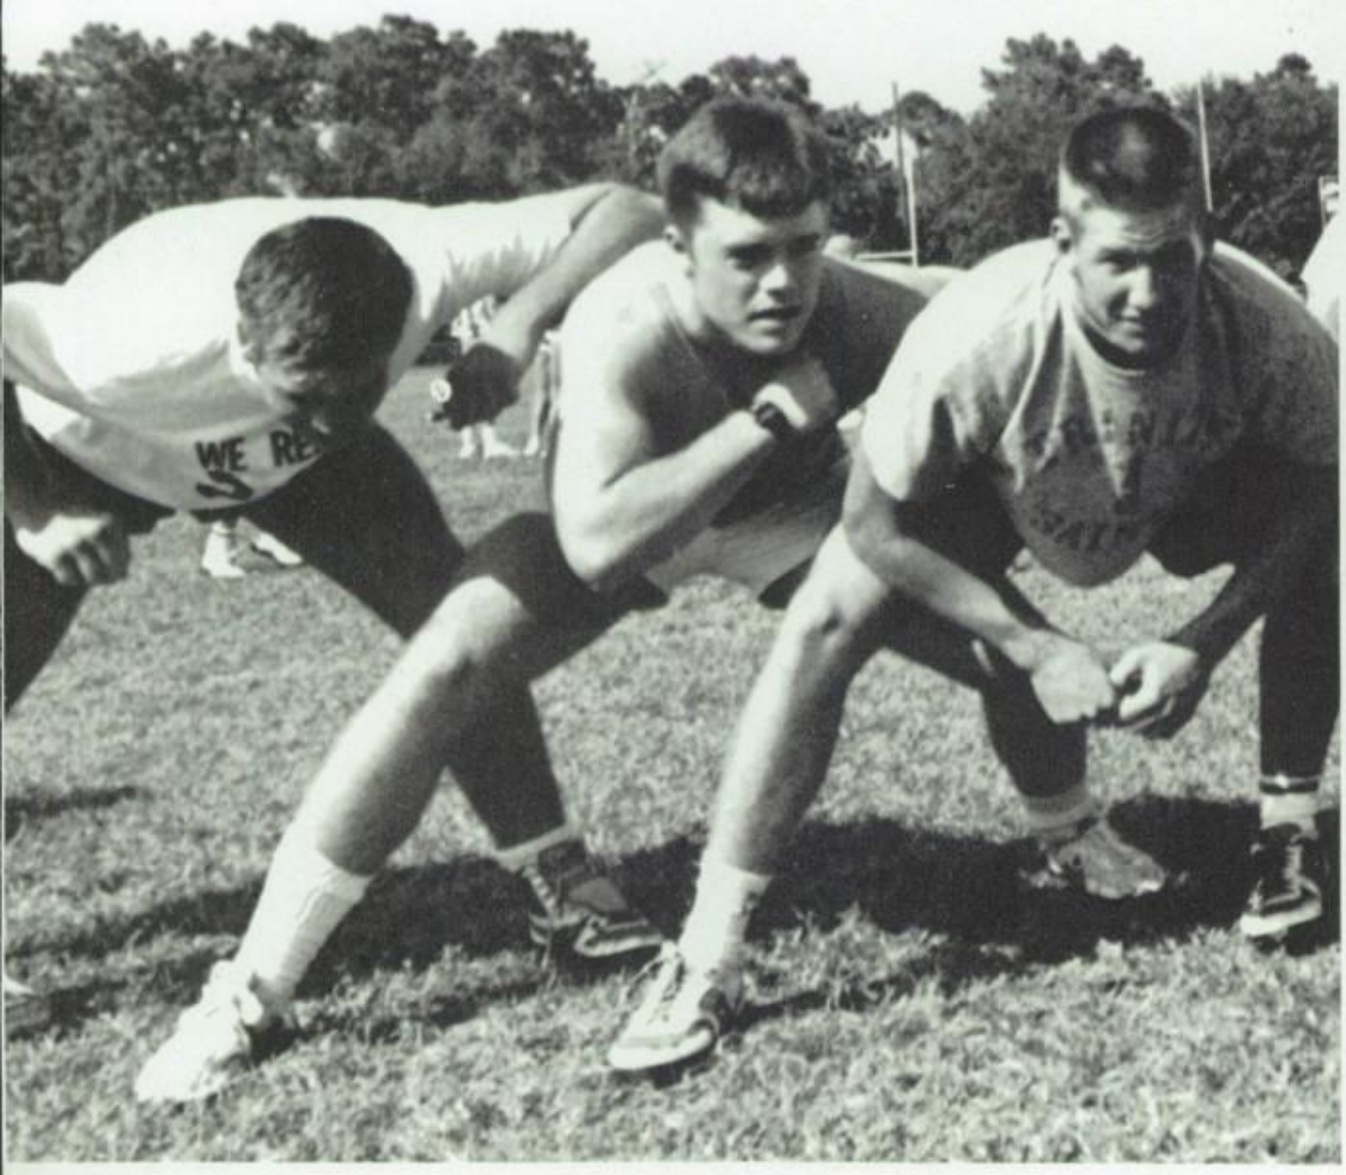
Of the many awards he earned this season, senior Ron Veres was proudest of the plaque which named him Channel 6 and Orlando Sentinel Player of the Week.

Handling equipment and supplies is a hard task which rarely receives commendation. The varsity football managers were Ashley Rosenfelt, Aimee Nocero, Leigh Sigman, Mirinda Yoo, Diana Steinway, and Reba Rosenberg.



Prescott Burke and Chris Hirst take in the action from the sidelines.

The football players spend long hours at practice, even during the spring and summer.

"The junior high football program stresses fundamentals, emphasizes skills development rather than playing to win at all costs," says Athletic Director Kathleen Finnucan. Even so, the 1987 team, under first-year coach Jerry Spring, compiled one of the best records ever. The team played consistently exciting games from the September opener in Vero Beach to homecoming in November. In the game against St. Edward's of Vero, the junior Saints found themselves down 0-24 at the half but came back in the second half to win 26-24. Wide receiver David Sauer scored the winning TD on a pass from quarterback Chuck Read. Then Read managed a two point conversion to clinch the contest. It was the first win over St. Edward's in four years. Besides Sauer and Read, center Chris Larsen and back Jim Curry led the team all season. The final game with St. John's, played before a wildly cheering home crowd, ended in a hard fought 14-14 tie.

VOLLEYBALL

The junior varsity volleyball squad of seventh and eighth graders found themselves playing a schedule of opponents who were in grades nine and ten. Winning did not come easily, but spirit and enthusiasm remained high, and the players, mostly new to the game, "made tremendous progress," according to Coach Finnucan.

Varsity volleyball finished with the best record in team history. The highlights of the season were winning the first district game ever and finishing third place overall in districts. The defense, led by Janet Cabascango, and the offense of setters Iliana Beron and all-conference and MVP Cassie Lassiter got help from Karrie Danhof, whose play earned her all-conference and all-county honors. Junior Lara Danhof set a school record of 212 serving points in a single season.

COUNTRY

Though small in numbers, the girls cross country team, coached by Ms. Kim Levin, ended its season with a strong showing in the district meet, placing sixth out of seventeen teams. Senior Jennifer Fritz, in her first year of competition, wowed everyone with her successes. By season's end, Jennifer was recognized as Runner of the Year by the Orlando Sentinel.

Boys cross country faced competition in the toughest district in Florida. Senior Bryan Sharp and junior Sebastian Pritchard led the team's efforts. Because so many younger runners participated, Coach James Arnold has high hopes for future competition in this most grueling of sports.

JUNIOR VARSITY

The varsity soccer team finished the regular season with a 10-8-1 record. A seven-game winning streak in the middle of the season was the turning point. Relying on the strong play of Ted Newman, Jon Walbroel, David Sauer, Danny Bachrach, Brent Smith, and Mike Tuazon, the Saints went on to become co-champions of the Central Florida Athletic Conference.

Every cloud has its silver lining. The junior varsity soccer team beat Lake Highland 4-1 in an otherwise dreary season. The goals were scored by Doug Smith, Jeremy Stewart, Stuart Nofsinger, and Michele Brown. Billy Maloney, Chipi Guarda, Henry Villadiego, and Richard Gregory also helped the team to tie three other games.

SWIMMING

What a great season! Both boys (6-4) and girls (8-2) were district champs, girls for the first time in Trinity history. Led by state champion in the 100 yard butterfly and Sentinel Male Swimmer of the Year Robbie McMichael, Sentinel Female Swimmer of the Year Ann Stewart, and all-county recognized Meredith Humm, Austin Lindsey, Ivan Negron, Rachael Weightman, and Lauren Aspinwall, this year's team was the best ever.

JUNIOR VARSITY – JUNIOR HIGH

BASKETBALL

Participation and fun! These two words best describe the junior high basketball program. Although the team did not enjoy many wins this season, everyone got an opportunity to play in the games and learn more about basketball. A good nucleus of players will graduate from the program and lend added strength to the junior varsity program.

Junior varsity savored many victories this season. All players improved and really learned what basketball is all about. With some fine returning players, some good junior high players, and with hard work in the off-season, the sky's the limit for this program next year.

VARSITY

BASKETBALL

The boys varsity basketball team enjoyed one of its greatest seasons ever. At one point the mighty Saints put together eleven straight victories. Under the direction of head coach Gene "Torchy" Clark, the team captured the Florida Air Invitational Tournament championship and the Central Florida Athletic Conference championship. For the first time in over five years the Saints defeated Lake Highland Prep, a feat that was later repeated on the Highlanders' home court, marking the first time in over a decade that Trinity has defeated them twice in one year. The Saints relied on the rebounding of seniors Ron Veres, Travis Van Dyke, and Rusty Swain, along with the scoring of juniors Nick Pastis (25 points per game), Don Worden (18 ppg), Todd Walker (16 ppg), and Duke McLauchlin, who led the team in assists.

SOFTBALL

What a debut! On February 22, 1988, opening day of the softball season, the girls beat Gertie Lake High School 19-1 on a no-hitter by eighth grade pitcher Naomi Neptune. Coach Finnucan and the fans looked ahead to more excitement and victories at home and away as the spring progressed.

Twenty girls vied for positions on the diamond — the largest turnout in Trinity softball history. Lone senior Cassie Lassiter provided strength at both offense and defense, and juniors Diane Clayman, Nicole Heberling, and Lara Danhof contributed significantly to the success of the team. The Saints also relied heavily on the infield play of Karrie Danhof at shortstop, Manka Johnson at second base, and Michele Brown at third.

BOYS' TRACK

Though the track teams were small in numbers, Coach Dan Burke figured he could find good combinations of personnel with events so that Trinity could score maximum points at the meets in the spring.

Seniors on the boys' team included high jumper and distance runner Bryan Sharp, long jump specialist Brandon Silkey, and discus man Jason Teeple. Junior Sebastian Pritchard had a history of excellence in the triple jump, and Coach Burke anticipated that AFS student Knut Aas would contribute significantly in several events. Because of this upper school strength, the relay teams were expected to be competitive. The future looks promising too, especially with the contributions of Matt Miller, Joel Maxson, and David Porterfield.

Coach Burke expected Janet Cabascango to garner points for the girls in both the 100 and the 330 hurdles. Eighth grader Chrissy Samano looked strong in the sprints. The Saints also relied on the experience of distance runners Mary Byers, Cris Cockrum, and Meredith Humm.

Knut's all-around athleticism was expected to be of value. New eighth grader Nathan Davis stretched out behind Knut at the practice after school.

TENNIS

BOYS' TENNIS

Only team captain Aimee Nocero and senior Laura Hong returned from the 1987 girls' tennis team, so fifth-year coach Mrs. Flynn turned to seventh, eighth, and ninth grade talent to round out her roster this spring. In Coach Flynn's words, "It's a building year, a learning year, but these girls have lots of enthusiasm — and the future looks bright." The boys' team is consistently successful because of the strength of the individuals at each rung of the competitive ladder. Junior Lawrence Golomb, who played at the #1 position, was a 1987 district finalist. New to Trinity, Mark Bommelje played at #2. A seventh grader, Mark is ranked in the top ten in the Florida Boys' 12's Division. Junior Jeff Sweet, a district finalist at the #3 level in 1987, played at #3 position this season. Brian Signer moved up to the #4 spot because he was district champion at #5 last year. As the season opened, four players were in contention for the #5 slot: Justin Mead, Samir Chaudhari, Sidhu Nadkarni, and Matt Amalong. Also on the team were Gabe Sheets, Chris Larsen, Chris Green, and Ali Arifuddin.

BASEBALL

The achievements of the baseball Saints in past years have made the sport — and winning — a tradition. From 1976-1987, the Saints compiled a 167 win — 84 loss record. From these wins emerged five district championships and five district runners-up teams.

The Saints started the 1988 season short on experience. Only three starters returned from the 1987 district championship team, which compiled a 16 win — 6 loss season. In Mr. Denicole's twelve years as coach, he has demanded not only the best of each player individually, but he stressed the importance of team work. Trinity is fortunate to have Mr. Denicole!

Mr. Denicole's love for baseball spans a lifetime. A lefty described as having "superb control and a sparkling fastball," he continued playing baseball after starring at St. James High School in Philadelphia. While a first lieutenant in the Air Force, he qualified for the All Stars composed of Army, Navy, Air Force, and Marine personnel. The team represented the United States in the Olympic Games in Melbourne, Australia, in December, 1956. It was the first time baseball was included in the Olympics as a demonstration sport, and the U.S. team won the Bronze Medal!

GOLF

Golf allows players to compete on an individual level while at the same time contributing points to the team score, because although five golfers compete in each match, only the four best scores are used to determine the total team points.

In the 1988 season, seventh grader Matt Brown consistently scored in the high forties. Four juniors — Wally Hallowes, Tim Simpson, Keith Valbuena, and Todd Walker — and senior Ron Veres competed for the honor of representing our school. The team's home course this year was the Winter Springs Golf Club.

O BOY!

ONLY

Hand crafted carousels, an honest-to-goodness white-knuckler roller coaster, and the Sultan of Swat. Welcome to the good old days.

Our Grand Rapids log flume will be, for many, the absolute highlight of their visit. At four minutes it's joyously long. And with more than 17 breathtaking turns, it's definitely not recommended for the faint-of-heart.

If you're wondering why we're called what we're called, you've come to the right caption. The entire Boardwalk and Baseball park is connected by a mile-long jarrahwood boardwalk. Or for the trivia-minded among you: 33,000 individual pieces of fourteen foot, six inch Australian jarrahwood secured by 380,832 screws. Whew.

Back in the twenties and thirties, people didn't jog or play racquetball for fun and recreation. They went to amusement parks on boardwalks. Places like Coney Island and Palisades Park.

To many people these "classic" parks are a thing of the past. To us at Boardwalk and Baseball, they're not. Which is why we've re-created one—right down to the authentic jarrah wood boardwalk.

Yet in addition to everything you'd expect at our park is something you wouldn't: baseball. We have batting cages, memorabilia from the National Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum, and games—with everyone from seasoned professionals to amateurs who dream of someday becoming one.

To find out more you can either read this ad or come to our park. Or better yet, do both.

Boardwalk and Baseball. 50 minutes from Tampa.

Tickets available at your AAA Peninsula Motor Club Office.

BOARDWALK

An American Classic

You'll find exciting baseball games going on—from amateurs to professionals. After watching others play, you can play yourself at our batting cages. And after watching and playing baseball, you can learn about it at "A Taste of Cooperstown," an official exhibit of the National Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum.

WHAM!

Come to our Colorado Riders show and you'll get to see how the west was really won.

All aboard for terrific Italian food.

If our Ferris wheel isn't the largest in the world, it's probably close. In fact, it takes nearly a minute to go around just once. And twice that long to go around twice.

At our Midway there's a bunch of people with a bunch of change winning a bunch of prizes.

Fortunately, roller coasters aren't subject to the same speed laws as automobiles. Our Hurricane hits 65 m.p.h.

At Boardwalk and Baseball, you'll find everything from health food to junk food.

Welcome to "Park Place," a lovely landscaped area where you can just sit around and relax.

Seniors,

We went though this year together, and now we must part
Because it is time to say goodbye and you should make a new start
We now go our separate ways and keep the memories we treasure,
As we live through life and love
Remembering today, tomorrow, always and forever.
Although this year was your last and I must hide the tears
We will still keep in touch today and all throughout the years.
Now I hope that you'll carry on

Congratulations
To the Senior Class of 1988!

To a dear daughter . . . her name is Janet, which means

"God's Gracious Gift"

God gives the gift of years, so that we might enjoy the changes of the months, and the months that we might enjoy the changes of the days. The years pass swiftly.
God blesses and gives us a blend of talents and abilities. In your maturing you have used these gifts to bless others' lives. The warmth of your caring, the nurturing of your feelings has enabled you to become fashioned in His image.
Dear daughter, hold fast to your hopes and dreams for they have within them the seeds of reality. Listen to your heart for it expresses the nourishing and blessing nature of our Lord. Love is forever.
May you be blessed as you have blessed others. May God's peace and love surround you, and may the fullness and joy of life enrich all that you are . . . and can be.

We Love You,
Dad, Mom, and John
